UNSOLD IN U.S.A.

"The boys haven't even broken a sweat yet," said a wispy reporter for the Glasgow Daily Record. On the floodlit field before him in St. Louis one night last week, commencing a U.S. tour, were 1,000,000 dollars worth of Scottish football (soccer) players, champions of Britain and mythical champions of the world.

When the public-address system blurted out, "Foul on Holstein," the Scottish reporter winced. To mispronounce the name of Willie Houlston (rhymes with fool us none), national hero and ace centre-forward for Scotland, was as bad as man-handling the name of Joe DiMaggio. At half-time, the Scots had dribbled and passed rings around St. Louis' All-Stars and led, 3-0, but their hearts weren't ally in it. The familiar air of tension and desperation, compounded with an occasional "Hampden roar" (a sustained Scottish cheer which becomes so engulfing that mikes have to be turned down until it eases), were missing. Final score: Scotland 6, St. Louis 0.

OUT OF DANGER.

No one has ever given a good reason why soccer, a game which stirs a large part of the world to hysteria, causes little but polite yawns in most of the U.S. The ardor with which U.S. fans pursue baseball is pallid compared with the interest of soccer fans in the 50-odd nations in which it is a national game. In Buenos Aires, referees are sometimes hustled out under police escort lest they be torn limb from limb by the spectators. From Moscow to Melbourne, the action and drama of the game thrill crowds who consider American football slightly less exciting than watching grass grow.

Soccer is a vital part of the British way of life. Each Thursday in season, ten million Britons get a coupon listing the week's games. With sport pages of the papers spread before him and the family kibitzing, the fan makes his selections and his bet (from one penny up) in the weekly "pool." Led by the big three—Littlewood's, Vernon's and Copes's—the pools take in a staggering 250 million dollar a year and rank as Britain's seventh industry.

With prospective fortunes to liven interest (a gas company worker once took a flutter for 10c. and won 295,180 dollars), crowds at the games dwarf the crowds that turn out for U.S. sport events. When Scotland played (and beat) England two months ago, a throng of 150,000 crammed London's Wembley Stadium to see it done.

OUT OF MISCHIEF.

After a game, fans queue up at locker-room doors just to glimpse or touch the hero who kicked a goal. But where U.S. big-league baseballers make a minimum of 5,000 dollars a year (and on up to 90,000 dollars), soccer stars who bring as high as 95,000 dollars when sold on the open market get a top salary of about 56 dollars a week, plus 8 dollars bonuses for every game won. The British encourage their stars to have an off-season job. "It keeps a man out of mischief," said Robert Williamson, a Scottish football official. "It doesn't do, after all, to have a national idol hanging around pubs . . ."

After playing in St. Louis before 9,662 people, the Scottish booters moved on to New York for the second of seven scheduled stops. Chief purpose of the tour: to try once again to whip up enthusiasm for soccer in the U.S., where the game's most rabid admirers are in such places as St. Louis, Kearny, N.J. and Fall River, Mass. One reason why soccer may never take the U.S. by storm; the peak of the season comes during the winter months when fans prefer to be indoors and more comfortable watching basketball.

PROSPECTS FOR TO-DAY.

Surrey Park will be the setting for the main first division match this afternoon, where the home side, Box Hill, second on the premiership ladder, will meet Park Rangers, who are only one point behind in third place.

When these two teams last met at Middle Park, the Hillmen just scraped home by the odd goal in five. Since this encounter, Rangers have improved their team, and their prospects to-day of turning the tables are bright. A win for the Rangers would probably place them in second position with a point advantage over Box Hill, while even a draw could give them the position on goal average.

The Division leaders, Brighton, will be at home against Moreland, who are equal third with Park Rangers. Moreland, too, can gain second place with a win, but on their recent performances, Moreland will be fighting an uphill battle in trying to defeat the Division leaders.

Sunshine United, in the relegation zone, is only one point behind its opponents, Yallourn, so visitors to Sunshine Park can be well assured of seeing a good contest, in which both teams will be striving hard against possible relegation.

South Yarra's home game against Western Suburbs will also be full of interest. Western Suburbs, at the bottom of the ladder, even with a win, cannot at this stage escape from the danger zone, but on their good performance last week against Moreland, it is possible that their chances can be improved.

The remaining First Division contest, will be at Footscray, where the home team, Bradford, will be striving to regain prestige from its defeat against Yallourn last Saturday. Prahran, their opponents, played good football last week against Brighton, but may not find the Bradford ground to its liking.

The only game in the Second Division which appears to have any appeal, is that of Hakoah against Heidelberg, to be played at Olympic Park. Heidelberg seems to have improved over the last few weeks, but it is thought that their improvement is not sufficient to upset the Hakoah team's chances of gaining second place on the ladder. South Melbourne United holds this position at present, being three points ahead of Hakoah, but United will have to gain at least six points out of its remaining four games to ensure its promoton, along with Sandringham City, to the top division next season.

Highlight in the Third Division will be the contest between Juventus (Division leaders) and George Cross (second). This game is to be played at Olympic Park as a curtain-raiser to the Hakoah versus Heidelberg match, and will commence at 1.25 p.m.

Congratulations to Brighton in the First Division who have virtually won the Premiership, and our condolences to Western Suburbs who will have a terrific fight to escape relegation.

In the Second Division, Sandringham City are practically assured of promotion. A warm measure of praise is due to their Committee and players for their efforts. Williamstown, at the foot of the league, must gain points from remaining games to escape relegation.

Third Division leaders, Juventus, are playing so well that they must qualify for promotion. Congratulations, Mr. Fontana.

UNDER 14 TEAMS WANTED.

Brighton and Box Hill Clubs have a surplus of schoolboy soccer players, and both clubs want to play friendly games against teams under 14 years of age.

The Junior Association Secretary (Mr. J. Olsen) would like to hear from any Club, who, in addition to its Under 15 team, can field a team of boys under 14 years of age on Saturday mornings. If sufficient entries are forthcoming, it might be possible to organise a short competition between these teams before the season closes, with the possibility of next year forming an additional Junior section for schoolboy players under this age limit.

VOLUNTEER REFEREES WANTED.

To provide neutral referees for their cup and shield matches, commencing August 20, the Junior Association requests clubs to furnish names and addresses of members willing to volunteer.

Letters to the Editor

In reply to D. J. C. Sutherland regarding the disputed goal awarded South Melbourne against Hakoah. I was the spectator concerned in the incident, and also a South Melbourne player. He says his view was impeded. Wasn't that possible in the referee's case, too? I didn't like to see an injustice done. What made it worse for all concerned—my Dad was the referee.

J. A. Mason.

END OF SEASON BALL.

The Ladies' Social Committee of Brighton Soccer Club read with interest the article by Mr. Stephen, of Albert Park, referring to an "End of Season Ball."

Are there any Clubs in Melbourne who would join us in promoting a function of this nature?

The function could be held at one of the leading Cabarets, and arrangements for catering, printing of tickets, liquor licence, etc., could be organised by an Inter-Club Committee drawn from the Clubs sponsoring the Ball. Any loss would have to be borne equally by the organising Clubs, and on the same count any profits would be shared by the same parties. It must be noted, however, that although any loss would have to be equally shared, any profits would have to be based on the number of tickets sold by each particular club. We feel that this would promote a competitive spirit which would ensure the success of the Ball, socially and financially.

It is a great pity that there are not more functions at which members of the different Soccer Clubs could meet.

Footnote.—Anticipating a large mail at: 54 Allison Road, Elsternwick, S.4.

Mrs. A. Barr.

In reply to J. E. (Napper) Thompson (Soccer News, 16/7/49).

I cannot pass without comment his accusations of dirty play creeping into the game as played by Park Rangers. They are a young team, and play the game in a wholehearted, robust style, which is delight for the spectators. The inside-left referred to so disparagingly is recognised by many of the keenest soccer players in Victoria as the best player in the State. As the captain has brought his team right up into the top four by a keen fighting spirit, the accusation of his inexperience is hardly maintained. Credit where credit is due.

Frank T. Sykes, East St. Kilda.

MELBOURNE UNIVERSITY.

In reply to the University's letter on transport difficulties, it is well worth noting that all the other sporting bodies run by the University fulfilled their fixtures in Baseball, Tennis, Rugby, etc., etc.

Soccer Fan, Toorak.

Club Jottings.

TRANSPORT TROUBLE.

Owing to "transport trouble," Metters couldn't fulfil their engagement at Box Hill. Some of the players watched the Juniors in action at home against Sunshine Utd. Although Metters won by 3 goals to 2, they had to battle hard. Sunshine with only 10 men were unlucky. Metters, with a re-organised forward line lost a lot of opportunities to score. The team missed their little sharp-shooting O.L. B. Kinnersley, as he was playing in the Metropolitan team against E. Gippsland, at Olympic Park—a game in which he had the honour of scoring the first goal of the match.

PROPAGANDA AND PUBLICITY COMMITTEE.

To assist in coping with the extra work in publicising the Jugo-Slav tour, Messrs. F. Ursell and R. White have been asked to join the Committee.

Our thanks are due to Teddy Lowe for his fine effort for Soccer on 3UZ's "Spotlight on Sport," on Friday, July 15. But let us know next time, Ted, and we can inform all the boys.

For some time now, the Committee has been trying to get a good magazine article on Soccer in Victoria. At last, we feel we have succeeded. On Thursday, July 28, the "Australasian Post" will include a two page article on the effect of migrants on Victorian sport with illustrations, one of which will be in colour. This article was written by a staff man on the "Post" from data supplied by the Committee. Having read the proofs we feel it will be one of the best on Soccer in Victoria for many years.

Our apologies are tendered to the Under 17 boys of South Melbourne and Preston Clubs who did such a great job in posing action shots for the article. The "Post" decided later not to use them but the photos are excellent, particularly one of South Melbourne's goalie (shades of Frank Swift) and shots of Six-goal Stiles and Dead-shot Jeavons. They can be bought at a reasonable price at the Photographic Sales Dept. in the Argus building, Elizabeth St. All clubs interested in juniors are at least advised to go and inspect them.

IMPROVED GOAL AVERAGE.

Playing against Yarraville on a ground in bad condition, Sandringham produced good football in the second half and finished 4 goals to nil.

George Nicoll, playing his first game with the Seniors, took a while to settle down, but was under notice in the second half for some good clearances.

Joe Walton (changed to centre-forward) seemed more at home and scored a nice goal. Jack Davis (outside right) scored a lovely goal with his head, while Alf Finney's goal was a gem.

Don Bingham, returning after a bad leg injury, put more pep in the half line. Ralph White, who is having a great season, was a tower of strength to the City, while Les Bingham was also under notice.

The Reserves had a runaway victory and bumped their goal average up with an 11-0 win.

The City Club has started Soccer in local schools, and Hampton High School is playing in the Wednesday Schools' Competition. Under the tuition of Norm Shingles they are making great progress.

Our Junior teams, while not very high in the League tables, are looking forward to the coming Cup ties and hope to give a good account of themselves.

The First and Second teams are training hard for the Cup ties. Don Bingham is putting them through a strenuous physical culture course to fit themselves for the hard matches expected.

FORMER GOALIE SCORES FOR JUVENTUS.

A good, fast game was witnessed on Saturday at Royal Park, where Juventus (Third Division leaders) defeated Northcote by 4 goals to 2. A feature of the game was the scoring of two goals by former goal-keeper, Musco (of Juventus). This was Musco's first game this season as a field player, and playing at inside-right, he performed quite favourably. The new keeper, Tesiri, showed good promise as a custodian. He is an Australian-born Italian, but learned his football in Italy, having left Australia when he was 7 years of age. In Italy he played First Division football. Other goal scorers for Juventus were, Martini and Carroll (penalty goal), while best performers were Newaldi, Martini and Carroll.

Juventus will play George Cross (second on the division ladder) this afternoon at Olympic Park, commencing at 1.25 p.m. This game will be played as a curtain-raiser to the Association Second Division fixture, Hakoah versus Heidelberg.

A COUPLET FOR COUPLES.

On Saturday 23 for you there's a thrill,
In a decorated hall on top of a hill;
You'll ask where it is, if you are a stranger.
If you want to know, then ask a Park Ranger.
Whether they make it, or whether they hire it,
Someone is bound to come as a Pirate;
Or perhaps if the complexion is fairer,
What is wrong with the Mid-Vic Era?
Whether cowboy, Clown, conny or cop,
Come help make this show go with a pop;
But if of a costume you have not a notion,
Do not neglect this Dance by the Ocean.
